

July 2022

Hée!!

After a few months of break, here is completed our first Recovery Training Module

The production of natural fruit juices training of Saturday, July 16, 2022 in Chiala lasted 7 hours of time and was attended by seven young people, six women and one man. Mr. MINE Dany, Agro-food engineer of @IPAGA, is the trainer who maintained between 11:00 and 17:19 on 05 modules, these young people in search of a practical know-how to allow them to self-employ by setting up an income-generating activity. So they briefly learned about the different stages of production of natural fruit juices starting by knowing what a natural fruit juice is and the different types that exist. Then they were told six reasons why it is important to launch in the industry natural fruit juices in Africa and Cameroon in particular.

They then learned about all the necessary equipment to start producing natural fruit juices, as well as the industrial processes of producing pineapple juice, pineapple-ginger, bissap also called Foléré in Cameroon, Baobab nectar, papaya nectar, and mango nectar.

After five hours of time spent producing these different juices on their own, the participants also learned how to store these fruit juices in glass and plastic bottles. They completed the training with the marketing module whose objective was to teach them the techniques of online sales and prospecting for products.

With the accomngements of